

Countable & Uncountable Nouns

Learning Objective

Today, we will learn:

- What countable nouns are
- What uncountable nouns are
- How to use them correctly

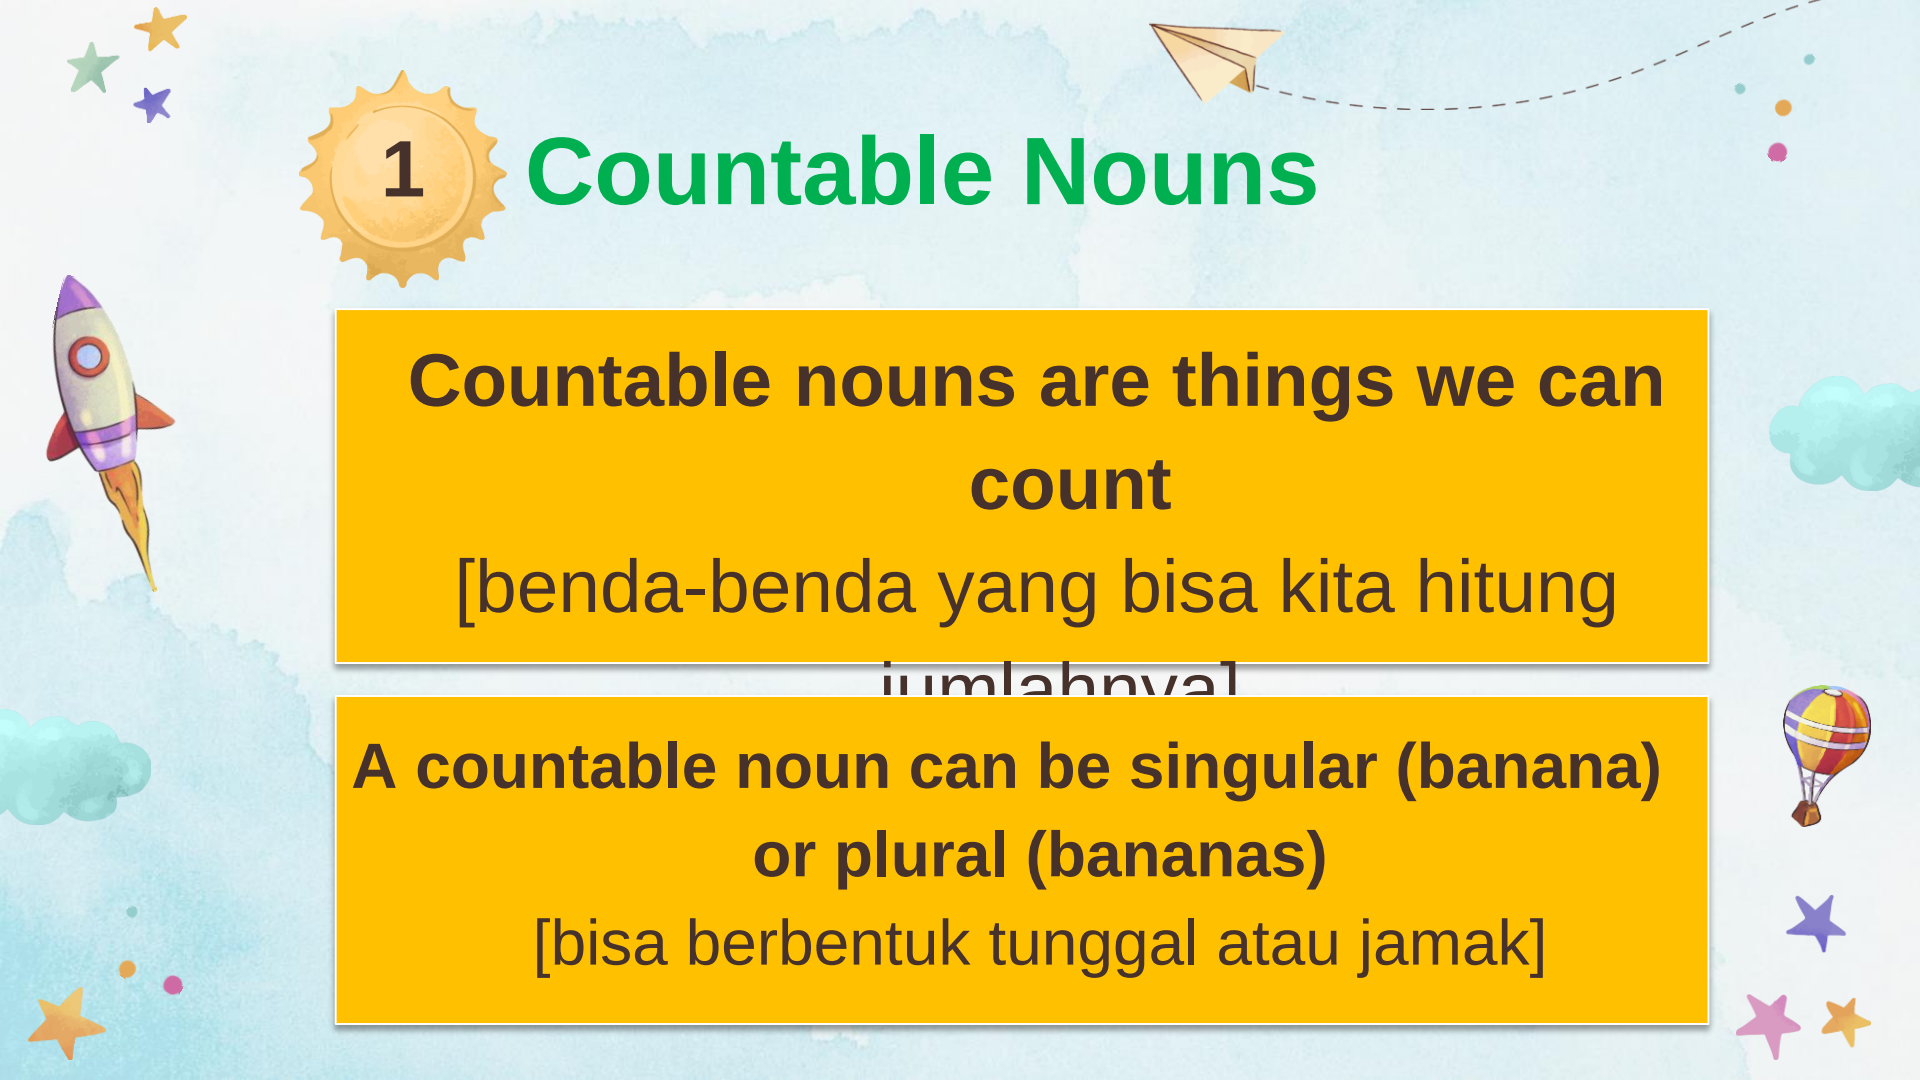

In English, nouns can be divided into two groups:

Countable Nouns

Uncountable Nouns

1

Countable Nouns

Countable nouns are things we can count

[benda-benda yang bisa kita hitung
jumlahnya]

A countable noun can be singular (banana) or plural (bananas)

[bisa berbentuk tunggal atau jamak]

Example of countable nouns :

🍏 Apple

We can count apples one by one.

Example: an apple, two apples

📖 Book

We can count books one by one.

Example: one book, two books

✏️ Pencil

We can count pencils one by one.

Example: one pencil, three pencils

Sentences :

I have two apples in my bag.

There are three books on the table.

She has four pencils in her pencil case.

2

Uncountable Nouns

Uncountable nouns are things we cannot count

[benda-benda yang tidak bisa kita hitung jumlahnya secara langsung].

An uncountable noun has only one form (rice)

[kata benda yang tidak dapat dihitung hanya memiliki satu bentuk].

Example of uncountable nouns :

💧 Water

We cannot count water one by one.

We count the container.

Example: a bottle of water

🍚 Rice

Rice has many tiny grains.

We do not count each grain.

Example: a bowl of rice

🏖️ Sand

Sand has many tiny grains.

We do not count each grain.

Example: some sand

Sentences :

There is a bottle of water on the table.

I eat a bowl of rice for lunch..

There is some sand on the beach.

QUIZ

Read the questions carefully and choose the correct answer!

Which noun is countable?

a. Water

b. Rice

c. Apple

d. Sand

Which noun is uncountable?

a. Book

b. Pencil

c. Cat

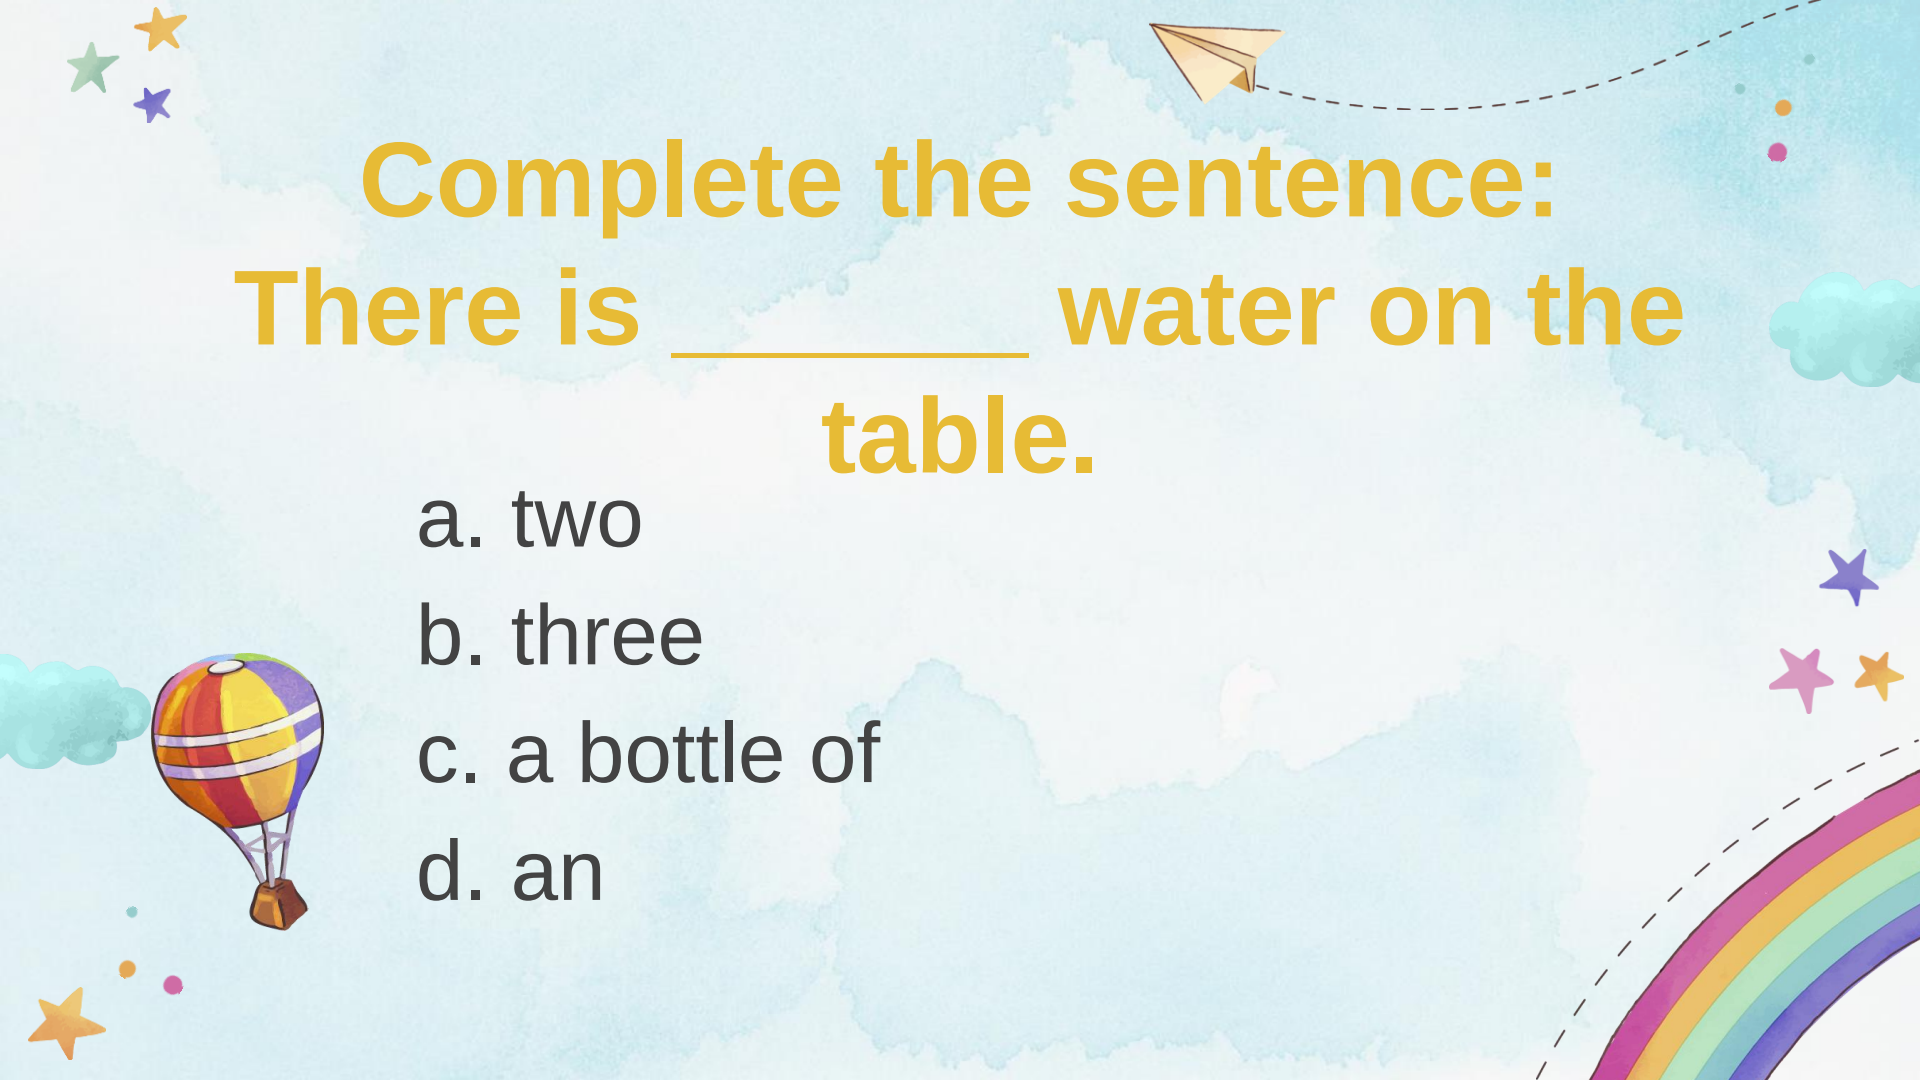

d. Milk

Complete the sentence:
I have _____ apples in my bag.

- a. some
- b. two
- c. a bottle of
- d. a bowl of

Complete the sentence:
There is _____ water on the table.

- a. two
- b. three
- c. a bottle of
- d. an

Complete the sentence:
There is _____ water on the table.

- a. two
- b. three
- c. a bottle of
- d. an

Which sentence is correct?

- a. There are two rice.
- b. I have three waters.
- c. There is some sand on the beach.
- d. There are four milk.

Summary

✓ Countable nouns are things we can count one by one.

Examples: apples, books, pencils, cats, chairs.

✓ Uncountable nouns are things we cannot count directly.

Examples: water, rice, milk, sand.

✓ For countable nouns, we can use numbers. Example: one apple, two books, three pencils.

✓ For uncountable nouns, we usually count the container or amount. Example: a bottle of water, a glass of milk, a bowl of rice.

★ Easy Rule: If you can count it one by one → Countable Noun
If you cannot count it directly → Uncountable Noun

The background is a light blue sky with soft, watercolor-style clouds. In the top left, a dashed line shows a paper airplane's path. In the top right, there are three stars: one blue, one yellow, and one pink. On the left side, a hot air balloon with red, yellow, and purple stripes is floating. At the bottom, there are two green rolling hills with some small colorful dots on the right hill.

Homework

Find 3 countable nouns and 3 uncountable nouns around you. Then, write one sentence for each noun.